

Features

*IP network software encryption device, software registration uses a dongle, and the number of authorized terminals and the usage time limit can be effectively set during registration.